A Kingsport man was killed in a one-vehicle crash about 3:20 a.m. Sunday on southbound Interstate 81, Trooper Jason Taylor, of the Tennessee Highway Patrol, said in a report.

Corbin L. Begley, 22, was driving a 2008 Nissan Frontier pickup truck in the left lane of southbound I-81 when the crash occurred, the report said.

The truck left the lane and went into the right lane, continuing on to the shoulder of I-81, the report said.

The truck struck a guardrail and overturned, causing Begley to be ejected. He was not wearing a seat belt, the report said.

A passenger, 33-year-old Rachel R. Carter, of Fall Branch, suffered injuries in the crash and was taken to an area hospital by Wings Air Rescue 2 helicopter.

Carter's condition was not available this morning. Begley was pronounced dead at the scene. Seat belt use "would have made a difference," Taylor's report said.

Among those responding to the crash scene were members of the Mosheim Volunteer Fire Department, the Greeneville Emergency & Rescue Squad, and Greene County-Greeneville Emergency Medical Service.

The wreck happened near the 23.5 mile marker of I-81, said Harold Williamson, Mosheim fire chief.

The car "ended up on its side against some trees over an embankment," Williamson said.

Southbound I-81 was closed for more than an hour as members of the Greeneville Emergency & Rescue Squad and Mosheim firefighters worked to free Carter from the truck, Williamson said.

One lane of southbound I-81 was opened after the crash scene was completed. The THP Critical Incident Response Team continued its on-scene investigation until about 7:30 a.m. Sunday morning.

Both lanes of southbound I-81 were reopened about 7:30 a.m. Sunday.

Mosheim Fun Days Provided Food, Fireworks And A Parade

The Town of Mosheim was brimming with spectators for the annual Fun Days Celebration on Saturday and Sunday.

Although there were fewer vendors this year, the crowd was perhaps bigger than ever, according to Town Recorder Kelly Lowery and Mayor Tommy Gregg.

Nearly 60 vendors set up booths featuring food, games and information to keep visitors entertained throughout the day on Saturday.

Live music from the nationally-touring bluegrass band Blue Moon Rising set the tempo, while late-night fireworks helped Saturday's festivities end with a bang.

"I think overall, it went really, really well," Lowery said. "We had a good day."

All the vendors that I talked to said they had a great day."

As a matter of fact, both Lowery and Gregg commented that all the food vendors nearly sold out of food, while some actually Mosheim's annual Fun Days Celebration was full of sweet treats, including Sunday's parade featuring Shriners, the West Greene High School Band, trucks, tractors, politicians, and floats, such as this one from Critter's Corner featuring costumed super-heroes. did sell out completely. "I think that showing that we had a really great turnout of spectators," Lowery said. As for the 12th annual baseball field, 262 vehicles were registered, and even more made an appearance, Gregg said.

A 1998 Chevrolet pickup truck with a purple tint won the Town's Choice trophy, he said.

Overall attendance for the car show was about 1,000, and attendance was twice that for the festival at large, he said.

"I think it was very successful," he said. "Everything seemed to go as smooth as could be expected. Everyone seemed to enjoy themselves."

Lowery was obviously pleased by what the event offered area children.

"I believe the kids had a great time," she said. "They get so excited about the fireworks and the parade."

What is it about the parade that excites kids so much?
